

My husband and I have been enjoying our XM satellite radio system. We both are in our 40's, and have always heard about the radio shows that my parents and his grandparents talked about--how nice to be able to listen to those brilliant shows, both the comedies and the dramas on the XM channels! We have enjoyed wonderful music, even music that the entire family (teenagers!) agree on when we are together in the car. It is nice to have such a large range of choices, without the advertising headache.
